Abstract

The goal of this paper is to explore the use of Keyword driven testing for automated testing. In Keyword driven testing, the functionality of the system under test is documented in a table as well as in step by step instructions for each test. It involves creating tables which are assembled later on into test scripts. The Existing tools for this testing uses Html, Xml, Spreadsheet, and others.

References

- http://www.tutorialspoint.com/software_testing_dictionary/keyword_driven_testing.htm
- Juha Rantanen, "Acceptance Test-Driven Development with Keyword-Driven Test Automation Framework in an Agile Software Project"; Helsinki University of Technology, Department of Computer Science and Engineering, Software Business and Engineering
A Proposed Methodology for Automated E-Commerce Systems Testing

Institute. 2007, pp. 1-102

Index Terms
Computer Science
Software Engineering

Keywords
Driven testing; test automation; test script; test results; scripting tool;