Abstract

Research has been carried out in correcting words in OCR text and mainly surrounds around (1) non word errors (2) isolated word error correction and context dependent word correction. Various kinds of techniques have been developed. This paper surveys various techniques in correcting these errors and determines which techniques are better.

References

Recognition (ICDAR’01) IEEE Computer Society Press, USA.

Index Terms

Computer Science Information Sciences

Keywords

OCR, Errors, NLP. Probability