Abstract

In this paper a structural analysis in understanding of ZigBee based transmission is investigated and studied. The proposed system is designed and analyzed to achieve a systematic suppressing and load overhead balancing under packet transferring from one mode to another via ZigBee in the absolute presence of Wi-Fi, the system has successfully achieved a greater rate of success in understanding and analyzing the suppressing ratios of the packets and the same is archived in the results.

References

III. RELATED WORK

Index Terms

Computer Science Wireless
Keywords

Telemedicine, sensors, packet transfer, Wi-Fi suppressing