Abstract

Search seeks to identify the axes of the development of the instrument cluster accounting disclosure on the basis of the results reached from previous studies in this area, which define the trends of the targeted development methods of management accounting in the light of the expected changes in the environment of the activity of companies; from which can raise the ability of economic unity to achieve competitive advantages.

References

Proposed Approach to Develop the Measurement Methods of Accounting Disclosure for Support of the Competitiveness of Business Organizations

Spring 1999, pp. 7.30.

31. Examples of such companies in Egypt telecoms, iron and steel and pharmaceutical companies, which have become working within the network environmental seeking to maximize value

Index Terms
Computer Science
Information Sciences

Keywords
Develop the measurement- disclosure- competitiveness- management accounting.