Abstract

In this paper, we propose a new interpretation of Brahmagupta’s terminology for Computer programming of different values of N and m. We also extend some Vedic composition tables (for the values of gN(m)) with Maple code that hold for the “Bhāvan?”.

References

- Dutta B. and Singh. A. N, History of Hindu Mathematics, Part II, Asia publishing House (1962);
- Aggrawal V. S, Vedic Mathematics Delhi: Motilal Banarasidas. (1971);
- Seshadri C. S, Studies in the History of Indian Mathematics, CHOM 5, H. B. A (2010); p192.

Index Terms

Computer Science

Applied Sciences

Keywords

Brahmagupta's Bhâskara equation Maple Software Bhavan gN(m).